Kodak has announced that they will no longer provide service or parts for 35mm slide projectors, so it time to get your 35mm slides converted to digital images and burned to DVD.

Preparing For Transfer

The Basics: Each 35mm slide is scanned in high-resolution and saved as a bitmap file to prevent artifacts that occur in JPEG files. The images are then placed on the timeline of a nonlinear video editor at the duration chosen by the customer. Background music is then placed on the timeline and edited to fit the duration time of the pictures. The project is burned to DVD disc and then placed in a DVD library case with printed inserts & image on disc. A maximum of 1000 slides per DVD

Features & Optional

A maximum of 1000 slides per * Custom DVD case with image printed case insert and disc
Photographic prints of each image (optional) * Files on CD storage for future use (optional)
Background music (optional) * On-screen chapter menu
